The Fiber.
Many a man with his whole soul immersed in business and money-getting is like the miser whose spring door shut to and locked him in forever. Men work and slave and get sick and broken down, forgetting all the time that health is worth more than that a happy home is rather in than great the they near door of disease spring to and shut them off from all the bright hopes they labored for.

A sick man cannot be happy; he cannot accomplish the work he has to do in this world; he loses the very money he is striving for; his ambition defeats itself. Any man who discovers that his strength and energy are giving way has an unfailing means of regaining his physical health and stamina in the simple yet all-potent restorative power of that wonderful "Golden Medical Discovery" originated by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., the world-famous specialist in diseases of the nutritive organism.

Among the thousands who have consulted him by mail the case of Mr. Newton B. Blake, of Tiptonville, Tipton Co., Miss., as shown in the following letter indicates the remarkable efficacy of his treatment: "In December 1893 my health began to fail. I tried many different kinds of medicines and the more I took the worse the disease grew. Finally in April when I was busy with the farm work my health got so bad that I could not hold out to work one hour. My breath became short and I was weak and nervous, and sometimes would spit blood. I was unable to work. I tried one of the doctors in the vicinity but failed to obtain relief. I seemed to grow weaker. My father received a book from Dr. Pierce in which I read of a case similar to mine, and decided to write to Dr. Pierce. He recommended me to take his 'Golden Medical Discovery.' After taking six bottles of this remedy I can recommend it as one of the best medicines to build up the system. I am now enjoying good health."

Torpid liver and constipation are surely and speedily cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never gripe. They regulate, tone up and invigorate the liver, stomach and bowels. No substitute urged by mercenary dealers is as good.

POISONS IN MURDER.

THE USE OF THE SUBTLE DRUGS SELDOM BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Strychnine and Arsenic Are Clumsy Agents of Death, as Their Traces Remain in the Victim Indefinitely. Poisons in Novels and Plays.

"A recent newspaper article," said a physician, "called attention to two curious facts, or rather, alleged facts, about poison. First, that it is so seldom resorted to by murderers, and, second, that its use is almost invariably followed by detection. One might answer both statements with the question: How do we know? How do we know that the few clumsy cases that come to light represent the sum of that kind of crime?"

"It is undeniably true that there are certain drugs which, if administered with skill, would be almost impossible to detect. Their symptoms are practically identical with those of familiar diseases, and a little while after death they decompose, change form and disappear."

"It would be possible, too, to inoculate a victim with the germs of some deadly malady. He would then go to his grave with a real case of consumption or pneumonia or lockjaw, and there would be nothing to arouse the shadow of suspicion. I believe firmly that such crimes are committed and never discovered, but I believe also that they are very rare. The real safeguard of a community lies in the fact that so few murderers possess the requisite skill."

"Educated people seldom commit deliberate murder," continued the doctor, "and the uneducated mind instinctively associates poison with two substances—arsenic and strychnine. They are the deadly drugs most familiar to the public, and fortunately they are easily detected. Murder by arsenic is infinitely clumsy. To begin with, the symptoms are marked and peculiar; being a metallic product, its traces remain in the body an indefinite time."

"Last summer a woman in Barcelona, Spain, confessed that she had poisoned her sister with arsenic 15 years before. The grave was opened and the coffin found to contain nothing but dust and ashes, but a chemical test showed unmistakably the presence of the drug."

"Mrs. Maybrick was accused of killing her husband with arsenic, and the test revealed it plainly not only in the remains, but in certain medicines. The demonstration was so conclusive that she finally arose in court and admitted giving him a 'white powder,' but insisted that she followed his own express directions."

"One of the most ingenious cases of poisoning I ever heard of occurred some years ago in another state. A young physician plotted to kill a wealthy farmer. He knew the latter was taking quinine for a cold and, meeting him one day, asked to see what size capsules he used. While pretending to examine them, he slipped in one containing strychnine. The farmer happened on it nearly a week later and died in convulsions. An autopsy revealed the poison, but the affair was a deep mystery until the doctor committed suicide, leaving a written confession."

"The poisonings that occur in novels and on the stage are usually very amusing to a student of toxicology," said the physician in conclusion. "I remember in 'Sam'l o' Posen,' which was produced with such success by M. B. Curtis, the drummer hero was temporarily knocked out by a poisoned cigar. He took two or three whiffs, and over he rolled. I would like very much to know the name of the drug that would produce that sort of effect."

"Nearly all the poisoning in fiction is equally surprising. There is a well known English romance in which the heroine inhales the fragrance of a bunch of roses and instantly falls dead. Needless to say, the poisoned perfume is wholly unknown to science."

"Another story— But I could keep on citing instances all night. History isn't much better. Most of the yarns of the Borgias and Medicis are pure moonshine, especially those about poisoned gloves, poisoned tapers and other applications of drugs or things that are touched or handled."

"The tale of the book which was anointed on the margins with some deadly substance that killed the person who moistened his fingers to turn the leaves has possibly a foundation in truth, but, I confess, I would be puzzled to know how to prepare such a volume. Almost anything that might be used would instantly betray itself by its taste."

"In the middle ages powdered glass is said to have been a favorite material with which to 'doctor' food, and you'll find some interesting data on the subject in the autobiography of Cellini, the goldsmith. It is occasionally used by negroes right here in the south. Of course, powdered glass isn't a true poison. It sometimes kills by setting up internal inflammation. Oftener it has no effect at all."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Dog Story.
Animals have sentiment, and they do reason. Lord Sandwich had two intelligent, companionable little white dogs. He was fond of both. They were much attached to him and devoted to each other. One white pet fell sick, and he watched over the little creature. But no care sufficed to save it, and it died. The loving master said that he himself would bury the dog, and he did so. The living Pomeranian stood by, grieving as sincerely as the bereaved master. But the survivor could never again endure Lord Sandwich, shunned him and was utterly irreconcilable for all time. He thought that the master had killed and buried his canine comrade.—London News.

Some English Cranks.
When I lived at Newport, R. I., from 1864 to 1878, says Colonel T. W. Higginson, in The Atlantic, there was a constant procession of foreign visitors, varying in interest and often quite wanting in it. I remember one eminent literary man who, in spite of all cautions to the contrary, appeared at a rather fashionable day reception in what would now be called a golf suit, of the loudest possible plaid, like that of the Scotch cousin in Punch who comes down thus dressed for church to the terror of his genteel cousins. In this case the visitor also wore a spy-glass of great size, hung round his neck, all through the entertainment."

Another highly connected Englishman, attending an evening reception given expressly for him, came into the parlor with his hat and umbrella in his hand, declining to be parted from them through the whole evening, which suggested to a clever Newport lady the story of the showman who exhibited a picture of Daniel in the lions' den and pointed out that Daniel was to be distinguished from the lions by having a blue cotton umbrella under his arm. In this case, the lady remarked that the conditions were reversed, since it was the lion that carried the umbrella."

Queer Lot.
Stranger—I have heard that you have a good many queer people in this town.
Citizen—As odd a lot as you'd find in a year's travel. They are a queer set, the whole of 'em, outside my family. And my wife is almost as bad as the others. But then, you know, she was originally of my family.—Boston Transcript.

Nothing takes impudence out of people so promptly as adversity.—Atchafson Globe.

MONOPOLIES AND THEIR WORK

The best thought in the advanced nations is being given to the problem of public ownership of monopolies—not that they will become any less monopolies when owned by the public, but that they will be under public ownership and operated for the benefit of the people, and not for the benefit of private corporations and individuals. The above includes in the near future the ownership of monopolies that are now under the direction and operation of corporations half public in their character, such as railroads and other appliances for public service.

When the public mind has been educated to a proper understanding of public utilities there will be no difference of opinion upon the subject of public ownership of the means used to supply the people, except it may be by the owners of the means used to supply the public, and the people who receive the service and pay to make fortunes for private individuals.

We write on these matters only such facts as we have learned from reliable sources, and our conclusions upon the facts given respecting the progress that has been made in the direction of public ownership of public utilities by the public. It may not be understood fully by our readers when it is said that these monopolies now owned by individuals under corporate form will become public monopolies when they are owned by the public.

The United States government has a monopoly in the postal service of the country, and will not permit any opposition to its control over that department of public service, and because of that fact the service is a monopoly that is in the hands of the people, directed by the government. The service is made in the interest of the whole people, and when there is a deficit, because of loss over earnings of the service, the people pay the difference there is through taxation in some form, because the service belongs to them, and the deficit was made in their interest because of cheap service. The monopoly of postal service by the government is approved by the whole people because it is necessary to their convenience.

A farmer's son is directed by his father to bring from the woods a number of logs for use on the farm. The youngster is given a team to do the hauling. The boy has a monopoly of the log-hauling business and is in a position to exclude all the boys in the neighborhood and their teams from hauling any of the logs. There is not a boy in his right mind in all the land who would not give permission to other boys and their teams to aid him in his log hauling monopoly. When the other boys are permitted to aid in the work the monopoly is dissolved or abolished by the farmer's son, because it is not, to his mind, a desirable monopoly, and for a like reason private ownership in monopolies that are engaged in supplying the public, when they do not pay, are abolished by those who control them. Those who have a monopoly in any service necessary to public use conclude, as a rule, that it is more to the advantage of its owners that it be used in an oppressive way against the people, and to the detriment of their best interests and the best interests of the country.

The pooling of railroad interests is, to procure a monopoly as nearly as it is possible to do so by conflicting railroad interests, and when understandings are arrived at the public is the victim of the arrangements made. The cause that is giving force and activity to thought upon the question of public ownership of monopolies is their growing power. They oppress and rule the people at large, and have made it their chief business for nearly thirty years to remove all opposition to their work which had for its object an absolute control of government and public matters.

The government of the country is in the hands of monopolies so absolutely that the control by its action takes the character of private ownership which largely directs defiance to the people, and all public interests, against any interference with the monopolistic schemes of monopoly owners. These conditions will continue till intelligence and patriotism takes control in the interests of humanity and a continuance of the liberty that was given to the people by those who bought it at Banker Hill and other hard fought field.

The means largely used by the monopolistic power in the country has been bossism. The weak and ignorant were organized all over the land to do the work required by the bosses which work was ever in the interest of monopolistic power. The weak and ignorant have received a pittance in money on election day, and others have received sums that corresponded with their ability to do mischief by defeating the expression at the ballot box of the intelligent voters of the country.

Power derived in the way it has been obtained in the country by monopoly will in time react to the detriment of those and their interests who have prepared the way for a revolution of public sentiment which is at the present being largely formed in opposition to the methods of monopoly. It is well ascertained by the thinking and intelligent among the people that the power of monopoly is derived from the creatures it has placed in position, among whom in Congress there is not a semblance to a statesman. It can not be otherwise than discouraging to an intelligent and governing people when there is not in the halls of the national legislature on the governing side a man of marked ability to discuss the great questions that are before the country for adjustment and settlement, and it is made more discouraging when there are so few in public position who give evidence of moral force and intellectual ability.

The weakness that is so manifest in public service has its explanation in an underlying truth connected with the monopolistic system to obtain power, which is, that ability is not desirable for its purposes, as weakness is controlled with less effort than is required to control ability, which will not be controlled for the furtherance of selfish interests and the means of oppression.

The Western Isles.

R. N. Gortley, advance agent for Dr. T. Franklin Hoyt, is in Reno making arrangements for a lecture to be given by the Doctor on the situation in the Philippines. The Doctor has a large number of stereoscopic views which will be used to illustrate the lecture and will furnish an excellent opportunity for all to form a comprehensive idea of things as they are at present in the islands.

Stock Shipments.

R. W. Parry shipped 17 carloads of cattle, 1 carload of horses, 1 carload of mules, and 1 carload of calves yesterday.

There will be large shipments of sheep made to-day.

The Christmas lull in the stock market is about over; buyers are drifting back and good sales are reported every day.

No Place Like Reno.

Hugh Nugent, who formerly resided in Reno but who has made his home in Hayward, Cal., of recent years, will return to this city. He has purchased the residence of G. H. Taylor on Nevada street. The consideration is given at $2,800.

Mr. Taylor will build a new dwelling on South Virginia street.

A Little Rattled.

The reporter who wrote up the account of the Flanigan-Linehan nuptials in yesterday's paper must have been somewhat rattled, else he would not have written Flanigan for Hannigan as the name of the officiating clergyman, nor would he have stated that the bride represented this county in the State Senate.

The Butte Litigation.

The case of William Oallaban versus Brooke McLane was tried in the District court yesterday.

This was an action brought for the recovery of about $225 by means of a workingman's lien against the Butte mine in Olinghouse canyon.

Oallaban was given judgment in the sum of $60 and costs.

A Card.

Parry Bros., having disposed of the agency of the Wieland brewing company for the State of Nevada to Otto G. Benschuetz, announce that all accounts due the agency will be collected by Mr. Benschuetz and that he is responsible for all accounts against the agency.

PARRY BROS.
(By R. W. Parry).

The Case Dismissed.

The suit brought by B. F. Leete against J. N. Evans for damages on account of alleged interference with a water right came to an abrupt termination yesterday.

Judge Mack dismissed the case and ordered that the costs be shared between the litigants.

Clarke Improving.

Former Governor Blaisdell was in town Tuesday on his way to visit some mining properties in Lyon county. He reports having recently met General Clarke in San Francisco. The latter is gradually improving, and is confident that he will soon recover his old time strength and vigor.

Cases Set.

H. H. Bergstein has been cited to appear before the District Court and show cause why alimony should not be paid.

The case of White versus Boynton has been set for January 29 at 1 p. m.

The case of Lyke versus Dickinson has been set for January 3.

Imported ports and sherries at Thyes for medicinal purposes.

In Nasby's Department.

The better carries look spick and span in their new uniforms. Loop-jerome has done his, but Parlin has shown so far since he was measured that he will have to send his uniform back for readjustment.

The people who are always kicking—something the JOURNAL never does—demanded that there be posted on the letter boxes the hours of collection.

Mr. Nasby, being told of the kick, stated that this would be done in the course of a short week.

As yet the collections are not made harp in the minute as the free delivery system has not settled down into the groove it will travel in.

Prevented a Tragedy.

Timely information given Mrs. George Long of New Straitsville, Ohio, prevented a dreadful tragedy and saved two lives. A frightful cough had long kept her awake every night. She had tried many remedies and doctors but steadily grew worse until urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle wholly cured her, and she writes this marvelous medicine also cured Mr. Long of a severe attack of pneumonia. Such cures are positive proof of the matchless merit of this grand remedy for curing all throat, chest and lung troubles. Only 50c and $1.00 Every bottle guaranteed. Trial bottles free at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

Good Times Coming.

Contractor Holesworth said last evening to a JOURNAL reporter that there has been more and finer buildings erected in Reno the past season than in any previous year, except after the great fire.

He said also that the outlook for next spring was splendid. There will be homes in Reno for several hundred more people before the snows of next winter fly.

He Hated Dem Brits.

When Admiral Cockburn's marauders ravaged Tilghman's Island in 1814, during the war between the United States and Great Britain, they found a different country from the Tilghman's Island of today. Then the white population was less than 50. Old George, a Tilghman slave, who afterward belonged to the Harrisons of Long Point, where in his old age he had a comfortable quarter and a boy to wait on him, was one of the victims of Cockburn's marauders and used to tell how "dem ar' Britishers made me run down me own havg, and not only dat, my young master, day make me kill 'im and skin 'im, hang um!" And the old negro's heart would burn with indignation at the memory. Old George lived to be a hundred, according to the record of his birth kept by his mother's master, and lived in great comfort in his old age. He died in 1886 on Cedar Point farm, the home then of his last master, the late Theodore P. Harrison of Baltimore.—Baltimore Sun.

His Plea For Wifery.

"If there is anything I dislike," remarked Colonel Stillwell, wiping his mustache with impressive deliberation, "it is a bigoted person. Some of the people at my home in Kentucky came very near taking permanent offense at me, but I held out and finally convinced them."

"What was the discussion about?" "It was the old controversy. Somebody mentioned water, and Judge Morgan stated his opinion that it was something that ought to be abolished. The major argued for its use in moderation, but the judge wouldn't have it. I was sorry to disagree with the judge, but I stated my arguments and clinched them so that he had to give in. I called his attention to the great achievements which all the world is now engaged in applauding. I recalled to his mind the glories of our naval heroes, the men who are so proud of their country, the men of whom their country is so proud. Then I pointed my finger at the judge and asked him how those naval heroes could have done these glorious deeds if there hadn't been plenty of water for them to sail their ships on."—Washington Star.

Trains, Worry, Disease and Death.

Late trains are a source of annoyance to everybody. The British Medical Journal dwells upon the very serious result produced by them upon the health of travelers. The rush to the station to catch the train which may perchance be punctual; the weary wait on drafty platforms or in stuffy waiting rooms; the dilatory journey—all these, we are told, add seriously to the labor of the day even in the best of times, but when the weather is cold and damp they are still more injurious and in that they are largely responsible for those "colds," as they are called, those conditions of depressed vitality which are the starting points of most of the acute diseases from which men suffer and from which the elderly and the feeble die.

Genuine Courtesy.

Surface manners are like cut flowers stuck in a shallow glass with just enough water to keep them fresh an hour or so; but the courtesy that has its growth in the heart is like the rose-bush in the garden that no inclement season can kill and no dark day force to forego the unfolding of a bud.

Wonderful Development.

Watts—The development of the sense of touch in the blind is something always a wonder to me.

Gotrox—I have it pretty well developed myself. I have got so I can tell a borrower two blocks away.—Indianapolis Journal.

Nomenclature.

"Have you studied any language beside English?" "Yes," answered Miss Cayenne, "three—golf, baseball and yachting."—Washington Star.

The man who reaches the railroad station two minutes after time and sees the train steaming out of the ether and derives no satisfaction from the prospect, "Better late than never!"

My son has been troubled for years with chronic diarrhoea. Sometime ago I persuaded him to take some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using two bottles of the 25 cent size he was cured. I give this testimonial, hoping some one similarly afflicted may read it and be benefited.—THOMAS C. BOWEN, Glencoe, O. For sale by Wm. Pinniger, Druggist.

As a cure for rheumatism Chamberlain's Pain Balm is gaining a wide reputation. D. B. Johnston of Richmond, Ind., has been troubled with that ailment since 1862. In speaking of it he says: "I never found anything that would relieve me until I used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It acts like magic with me. My foot was swollen and paining very much, but one good application of Pain Balm relieved me. For sale by Wm. Pinniger, Druggist.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50cts. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson Druggist.

NEWS OF THE SAGEBRUSH STATE

Brief Items Culled From Exchanges
From the Four Corners of Nevada.

An exchange says there are forty-four school districts in Elko county. Applications for the expected vacancies in the Eureka public school teachers corps are pouring in upon the trustees in great numbers.

The milk from 4,000 cows is being turned into butter at the Carson valley creamery.

A reported discovery of a rich gold ledge in Ruby valley excited the citizens of that section so greatly that they forgot to celebrate Christmas.

WADSWORTH.

Colonel Maxson was here Saturday looking up mineral exhibits.

Dick Fuller caught a twenty-pound trout in the lake Monday.

J. G. Ede and wife and Miss Stella Ede are visiting relatives in Reno.

Next Tuesday evening the new school house will be dedicated. An interesting program will be given.

CARSON.

A mining location has been made in the Lime Kiln canyon, west of town. It is said that the prospects show considerable copper and some gold.

Carson had 3,978 miles of wind last week. (The JOURNAL was not aware that a Populist convention had been held so recently in the capital city.)

Rev. McMortry, who has been forbidden by the councils of his church to retain the Carson pastorate, left yesterday with his family for Oakland.

The electric light company is busy equipping the town circuit with reducers. One of the mills on the river has installed forty lamps.

VIRGINIA.

James H. Kinkead will assume charge of the mines of which he was recently appointed superintendent on January 1st.

Dr. Hansen, who has been ill for a long time, is now able to move about his room.

Ray Bone has been engaged for the Jessie Shirley company orchestra.

The State Medical association will meet in this city January 8th.

Miss Maggie Tierney, who has been teaching school in Elko county, has returned to her home in this city.

The grand ball to be given Friday by the Senior class of the Virginia high school promises to be largely attended and a swell affair.

Miss Maggie Counihan, one of the Comstock's most popular young ladies, was married to John S. Hawk in San Francisco Monday.

A Holiday Attraction.

Every detail connected with the grand historical and colonial ball is being carried out in systematic manner.

The floor committee will be composed of the following members: George Robinson, W. W. Webster, Jr., Roy L. Robinson, Gus Koppe, Charles Nash and Bert Cunningham, with the president as floor director.

The music will be furnished by Hastings' band of fourteen pieces.

There will be a selected stock of costumes from San Francisco for all those who do not care to bother about making one.

Everything points to a large attendance and you should not fail to take your sweetheart, wife or family and enjoy yourselves.

Promising Mine.

R. R. Gumbert of the West Elizabeth Mining Company arrived last night from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and will leave to-day for Johnsville, where his company owns a mine in which a very promising strike has recently been made.

A tunnel has been run 1,535 feet in search of auriferous gravel, which has been tapped.

The company owns some good looking quartz claims in the vicinity, purchased from M. E. Ward of this city.

Committee Adjourned.

The committee of fifteen on revision of the text book system in Nevada concluded its session last night. Nothing definite was done yesterday except to round out the outline gone over the day previous. A number of sub-committees were appointed.

Nevada's Representation.

Principal John Edwards Bray of this city and Principal Monroe of the Dayton school left last night for Sacramento to attend the California State teachers' association convention. They expect to return Saturday.

A Sweet Singer.

Camille D'Arville, the prima donna, passed east last evening on the limited. A number of Reno friends greeted her at the station. Miss D'Arville has just completed an engagement in San Francisco.

Pretty Well, Thank You.

Physicians say that the recent fog has caused a lot of lung affections in this burg, but aside from such indispositions the health of the town is excellent.

Announcement.

I have just received a complete line of working and dress shirts of the latest patterns and styles, which I will sell at bedrock prices. I wish to call particular attention to a working shirt I am handling. It is undoubtedly the best working shirt that was ever sold on the Coast for the money. Call and examine the same.

I have all the latest patterns in golf and negligee shirts, in silks and madras cloths.

I am pleased to announce that I have secured the agency of the Wheeler overall, famous on the Coast as being the best fitting and most durable overall on the market. It is rivited, triple-sewed and made of the heaviest and best denim. Try a pair and be convinced.

Court Briefs.

The motion for a new trial in the matter of E. F. Swinney versus W. H. Patterson has been overruled.

In the divorce proceedings of Glazier versus Glazier the erstwhile hubby has been ordered to pay the cost of citation.

Jack Frost, Landscape Artist.

The moisture condensed from the fog and frozen upon the shrubbery that overhangs the stream lends weird beauty to the scene.

Entertainment.

The Christmas tree of the Episcopal church will be visited by Santa Claus to-day and the gifts he places thereon will be distributed this evening at 7 o'clock.

Rev. Mr. Bellam will conduct the service.

The Upson Sale.

The highest bid for the Upson bankrupt stock, $1,000, has been considered too low. The trustee will decide to-morrow whether to auction the stock or whether to retail it. It was appraised for nearly three times the amount of the bid.

Fine Formation.

The latest assay from the Copper Queen mine, one of the locations made recently on the carbonate of copper formation above town, is $28. The ore is said to be improving with depth.

A SURE CURE FOR COUGP.

Twenty-five Years' Constant Use without a Failure.

The first indication of croup is hoarseness, and in a child subject to that disease it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent attack. It is used in many thousands of homes in this broad land and never disappoints the anxious mothers. We have yet to learn of a single instance in which it has not proved effectual. No other preparation can show such a record—twenty-five years' constant use without a failure. For sale by Wm. Pinniger, Druggist.

French Tansy Wafers.

The world's famous remedy for painful period and irregularities, regardless of cause, are never failing and safe. The wafers are the married woman's best friend. The only reliable female regulator; imported Paris. Take nothing else but insist on the genuine, red rappers, with our trade mark.
